

51st Annual ARSC Conference 2017

Call for Papers

The Association for Recorded Sound Collections invites proposals for presentations at its 51st annual conference, to be held May 10-13, 2017, at the Menger Hotel in San Antonio, TX.

ARSC welcomes papers on the preservation and study of sound recordings in all genres of music and speech, in all formats, and from all periods. In recognition of our host city, San Antonio, we especially encourage presentations focusing on the rich history of regional indigenous and immigrant communities, performers, songwriters, composers, broadcasters, record labels, and personalities in the Southwestern United States.

In addition, the program committee invites proposals pertaining to:

- Collaborative research, preservation/access projects, and community archiving projects
- Recorded sound in digital humanities, soundscapes, sound art, and sound studies
- Audio preservation workflows and collections management techniques
- Collecting, copyright, and curatorial challenges from born digital media to mixtapes and beyond

We seek papers and panels that are informative, display a passion for their subjects, and include compelling audiovisual content. Share your special interests with our engaged community of collectors, historians, musicians, preservationists, archivists, and audio engineers.

The Association for Recorded Sound Collections is a nonprofit organization dedicated to the preservation and study of sound recordings. ARSC is unique in bringing together private individuals and institutional professionals -- everyone with a serious interest in recorded sound. With regret and acknowledged irony, we note our inability to provide playback equipment for dead media, including (but not limited to) disc, tape, cassette, videodisc, or videotape formats not specified above, as well as overheads, 35mm or magic lantern slides, or other transparencies. However, we welcome demonstrations of historic audio equipment provided and operated by presenters.
