

NOTES ON THE CONTRIBUTORS

TIM BROOKS is Director, Audience Measurement Analysis for the NBC Television Network

RICHARD WARREN, JR., is Head of the Yale Historical Sound Recordings Collection

MICHAEL H. GRAY is Editor of the ARSC Journal; his Beecham; a Centenary Discography has recently been published by Duckworth of London. GERALD D. GIBSON, Past-President of the Association and former Editor of the Journal, is the Head, Curatorial Section in the Library of Congress's Motion Pictures, Broadcasting, and Recorded Sound Division

RAYMOND R. WILE's most recent publication is Edison Disc Recordings (Eastern National Park and Monument Association, 1978)

CHRISTOPHER DYMENT is author of Felix Weingartner: Recollections and Recordings. He is currently at work on comprehensive discographies of Sir Hamilton Harty and Sir Henry J. Wood

PETER MORSE's "Richard Strauss's Recordings: a Complete Discography" appeared in Volume IX, No. 1 of this journal

BARBARA COONS is employed in the Office of the Librarian at the Library of Congress. Her most recent work includes an index to Sign Systems for Libraries (R. R. Bowker) edited by Dorothy Pollet and Peter Haskell

LES GERBER is the proprietor of Parnassus Records and a regular contributor to the American Record Guide

PHILIP L. MILLER is the retired Chief of the Music Division of the New York Public Library

HENRY FOGEL is Manager of the New York Philharmonic Orchestra

WALTER PATE is a Graduate Student in Musicology and Piano at The Catholic University, Washington, D.C.

J. PETER BERGMAN is a free-lance writer living in New York City

MARTIN DAVIDSON is a computer programmer who has written for several music publications

IFAN PAYNE is on the staff at Kansas State University and contributes a column to the American Record Guide

STEVE SMOLIAN operates Smolian Sound Studios and is currently at work on a comprehensive history and discography of the New York Philharmonic on radio and records

W. R. MORAN is a noted discographer and writer

MIKE BIEL is Assistant Professor of Radio-Television at Morehead State University, Morehead, Kentucky