

NOTES ON THE CONTRIBUTORS

TIM BROOKS is Director, Television Network Research, for the NBC TV Network

RAYMOND R. WILE writes extensively on the early history of sound recording.

MICHAEL H. GRAY is Editor of the ARSC Journal. GERALD D. GIBSON is Head, Curatorial Section, in the Library of Congress's Motion Pictures, Broadcasting, and Recorded Sound Section.

JOHN D. WISER is a music publishing executive; R. ALBERT HALL is a free-lance writer on music.

PHILIP L. MILLER is the retired Chief of the Music Division of the New York Public Library.

DAVID HAMILTON is Music Critic of The Nation and Contributing Editor to High Fidelity magazine. This is his first appearance in the ARSC Journal.

RICHARD WARREN, Jr. is Head of the Yale Historical Sound Recordings Collection.

MARTIN DAVIDSON is a computer programmer who has written for several music publications.

MIKE BIEL is Assistant Professor of Radio-Television at Morehead State University, Morehead, Kentucky.