

NOTES ON THE CONTRIBUTORS

Mike Biel is President of ARSC and a long-time contributor of the "For the Record" column.

David Bloesch graduated from the Eastman School of Music and is studying Electrical Engineering at the University of Iowa.

Tim Brooks is Director of Program Research at NBC-TV. He has also written articles for numerous collection publications.

Christopher Dymont, a lawyer in public service in the UK has been for the past decade a contributor to the ARSC Journal.

Michael H. Gray is Music Librarian at the Voice of America

David Hall is former head of the Rodgers and Hammerstein Archives, New York Public Library, and is preparing a definitive work on the American composer Roy Harris.

David Hamilton is music critic for The Nation and a contributor to Opus magazine.

Elwood McKee is former publisher for ARSC and Project Director for the AAA Preservation Planning Project.

Walter Pate teaches at The Catholic University, Washington, D.C.

John Swan is Head Librarian at Bennington College.

J.F. Weber is a discographer and critic for Fanfare.

* * * * *

Permission Statement

"The article, "The Birth of Decca Stereo", has been reprinted in its entirety from Issue No. 42 of The Absolute Sound® with not one word censored or deleted. The Absolute Sound® is the journal of High End audio and it reports findings on audio components and recordings without fear of or favor from any commercial interests. Its literate evaluations and tests take place in real listening conditions, i.e., the home, without recourse to confusing or misleading measurements. The only standard is that imposed by real music taking place in real space, hence, music (the absolute sound) is the measure of reference. Subscriptions and/or single copies may be obtained from the business office at $7.50 per issue or $33 per volume. You will call us directly with your AmEx, Visa, or MasterCard in had at 1-800-222-3201 or mail your check to The Absolute Sound®, Box L, Sea Cliff, NY 11579."