With the ARSC Archive now residing at the University of Maryland, College Park, MD, procedures have been established for the deposit of materials. Here are the policies and procedures as agreed to by the ARSC Board of Directors and the University of Maryland.

As requested by the ARSC Board, here are the final procedures from the ARSC Archives Committee to assist in the determination, weeding, preparation and shipment of ARSC materials to the ARSC Archives at University of Maryland.

Who Should Transfer Files?
Anyone who has held an official position within ARSC including Board members, committee chairpersons (including ad hoc committees, special project assignments, etc.)

When to Transfer Files?
When you leave or resign from an official position in ARSC. (See below).

What Types of Files/Materials to Transfer?
General: Send non-current original files in hardcopy created in an official capacity that you have determined to have permanent historical value/importance in documenting your official activities/positions, committee, project etc. that you have been responsible for. NOTE: “Non-current” means those permanent files or documents that are no longer needed to conduct ongoing activities. Original means the final edited document/report/letter you created and signed, not drafts, duplicates, or copies, etc. On the other hand, “current” files are those you need to conduct current business or would be passing on to your successor as needed to conduct current business which may or may not be deemed later as historically valuable and permanent.

Specific: The type of files that constitute permanent non-current historical material includes the originals only of the following which are not needed for current ongoing organizational business:
- Administrative, operational, and correspondence files created by the various officers of the Board.
- Executive Secretary/Executive Director files.
- Committee Chairperson files.
- Complete record set of ARSC conference programs.
- Originals/edited masters plus copies that may exist of audiovisual material (from annual conferences, Board meetings, workshops etc.) which may include audio, video, and still photography. Identification/labeling is required as to what, when, where, and hopefully who (for example, in photographs provide captions).
- Hardcopy printouts of computer files that you have maintained if you originated the document, correspondence, or reports in your official capacity.
- Other artifacts or memorabilia.

How to Transfer Materials?
- Fill out a “Transfer of Documents” form available from the ARSC Archives Committee. It will be faxed or mailed to you. Electronic copy is not yet available.
- List and describe briefly the contents of the folders/boxes identified by ARSC position, office, title, or event that you wish to transfer.

Recording Academy Awards $313,500 In Grants

Michael Greene, President/CEO of the National Academy of Recording Arts and Sciences (NARAS), has announced that an unprecedented $313,500 will be presented to 16 worthy organizations and individuals in the form of 2001 Recording Academy Grants. This marks the 14th year in which the Academy has provided grants to fund projects in support of the music community's ongoing research and preservation efforts.

"These grants will benefit a broad spectrum of research and archival programs that not only preserve our nation's rich cultural history but also benefit the health and welfare of musicians, children and the public at large," said Greene. "It's gratifying when the Academy can help fund projects that are rooted in music and help document its educational and therapeutic effects. Some of these programs can enhance an individual's quality of life, thereby demonstrating the powerful influence musical experiences have on people's lives."

The grants will fund projects in three categories: archiving and preservation of the recorded sound/music heritage of the Americas; research and implementation projects related to music (such as the impact of music education on early childhood and human development); and studies on the medical and occupational well-being of music professionals.

Recipients of grants are determined by the Academy's National Professional Education Committee based on several criteria such as merit, uniqueness of the project, and the ability to accomplish intended goals. Grants range from $10,000 to $20,000 each, with priority given to projects of national significance whose final results are accessible to the general public. The deadline for submitting grant applications each year is October 1. Since its inception in 1987, over $1 million has been awarded to over 100 noteworthy projects.

In the area of "archiving and preservation, the following grants have been awarded for 2001, including one to ARSC to complete guidelines for cylinder playback equipment.

American Composers Orchestra, Inc. New York, NY
To catalog, preserve and make available the collection of archival audio tapes of its performances amassed in the last 23 years. The American Composers Orchestra is the only orchestra dedicated exclusively to performing symphonic music by American composers, including the first orchestral works of Joan Tower, Philip Glass, Ellen Taaffe Zwilich and Joseph Schwantner.

Association for Cultural Equity, New York, NY
To preserve and make widely accessible recordings of American roots music recorded in the field on audio and videotape by Alan Lomax and fellow collectors, legendary in their own right, who contributed to the Lomax Archive. The footage to be preserved includes Delta bluesmen Sam Chapman, R. L. Burnside and Lonnie Pitchford; the Dirty Dozen Brass Band and Preservation Hall Jazz Band; Cajun legends Dennis McGee, Canray Fontenot and Dewey Balfa; and bluegrass master Raymond Fairchild.

Association for Recorded Sound Collections, Inc. (ARSC), Annapolis, MD
To complete the ARSC Guidelines for Cylinder Playback Equipment, a collaborative effort in developing the best technical methods for optimal cylinder playback. These guidelines will have a broad impact on organizations and individuals worldwide by helping them develop or evaluate equipment for safe, effective playback of cylinder records.

Brandeis University, Robert D. Farber University Archives, Waltham, MA
To preserve its audiotapes of electronic music. Electronic music is unique in that, unlike traditional music, it is notnotated and thus the recordings become the historical document. The university will make the tapes available for educational and research purposes to scholars nationally and internationally. Composers included are John Cage, Ernst Krenek, Fred Rzewski and Luciano Berio.

Cultural Crossroads, Inc., Baton Rouge, LA
To make The Roots of Jazz in South Louisiana materials on the early decades of jazz development in Louisiana available in the form of interactive CD-ROMs and curriculum guides. The large database will present an overview of the musicians and musical activity in the urban and rural communities that helped to influence the development of New Orleans traditional jazz.

The Kitchen Sisters, San Francisco, CA
To further develop, implement and expand the Lost & Found Sound Archive, a project which involves the cataloging, indexing and preservation of the hundreds of rare and historically significant recordings and interviews that have been collected over the past four years for the "Lost & Found Sound" radio series, broadcast nationally on National Public Radio.

The Library of Congress, Washington, D.C.
To save its collections of deteriorating wax cylinder, wire, acetate, tape and video recordings and to digitalize the collections allowing for greater dissemination to the American people and to people around the world. Recordings include narratives of ex-slaves recorded in the 1930s; scores of original recordings by Woody Guthrie, including "This Land is Your Land"; the "I

Matching Grants Help ARSC

Many employer match contributions to qualifying not-for-profit organizations. ARSC qualifies for most such programs run by employers. When employees make a contribution to a not-for-profit organization like ARSC, the company matches the gift. This doubles your contribution to ARSC at no cost to you. Ask your Human Resources Office and send your employer’s form to Peter Shambarger, ARSC Executive Director, along with your contribution. And thanks.

Harold Heckendorn, Loyal ARSC Member, Passes

 Harold Heckendorn’s daughter, Cherry Goszyk, sent the following which surely will be of interest to ARSC members.

“It is with great sadness I write to tell you of the death of my father. He passed away this New Year’s Eve after enduring a rather difficult time following a fifth stroke the day after Thanksgiving. We [held] a memorial service Saturday in which we have included many bits and pieces of his associations with ARSC and AT&T. He dearly loved doing the work he engaged in with both of your fine organizations. Thanks for your past association with Dad; it meant a lot.”

Les Waffen remembered Harold this way: “Harold was such a wonderful, gentle man, and a great friend and mentor to me, and I will miss him as I am sure will everyone in ARSC who knew him.”

All of us who knew Harold have only the fondest memories of this wonderful man.

CommunityZero

This CommunityZero wants to be a meeting place for all collectors of the 1930s flexible 78rpm cardboard Hit of the week-Durium records and its contemporary issues. So says Hans Koert, founder and author of the Hit of the Week Discography - Durium (GB) Discography - Durium Advertisement and Custom Records Discography (6+ edition). The flexible cardboard record covered with Durium was a “hit” during the Depression Days. For fifteen cents you could buy every Thursday a new “hit of the week” at your newsstand. Each week in 1930, from 350,000 to 500,000 copies were distributed all over the United States. The “Durium Products Corporation” in fact started producing Phonograph Needles, but enlarged its activities to the so-called “hit of the week,” the advertisement and custom records. It produced the first “durable” unbreakable record, the “five-minute hit of the week with almost twice the playing time of the average record,” and the first picture discs. From the fall of 1932 the durium record continued in Europe as the Durium Products (GB) Ltd. with a weekly series and recordings for the Scandinavian, German, Italian and French (SEFONIO) markets. Advertisements, courses and custom records were made by Dubrico and Sound Distributors. In Denmark, France and Italy the Durium record survived until the end of the 1930s. Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:
I am completely amazed that, as announced in the last newsletter, members of ARSC have already been chosen for the board of the newly designated National Recording Registry. Who chose them? By what process? Is ARSC so closed up that its leadership was afraid to make this an open process? What criteria were used? Who was chosen (and why was this not reported in the last newsletter)? Let’s all come out of hiding and answer some of these basic questions. Allen Lowe.

ARSC Committees at Work

ARSC GRANTS COMMITTEE REPORT May 7, 2001

Since the report of October 12, 2000 the ARSC Grants Committee has received four requests for information about the program, and responded by sending sets of guidelines and answers to several specific questions about applying. Five applications were received and circulated to members for evaluation. After study of these applications the committee recommends that grants be awarded to the following persons:

1) John Anthony Maltese: $1000 to fund preliminary research for completing “Violinair: a guide to recorded radio broadcasts of violinists (1924 – 1974)”, a project begun by the late James Creighton;

2) Carl Rakhonen: $500 to help fund travel expenses for his project to transfer to compact disc, to study, and to write an article about the Samuel P. Bayard Sound Collection at Pennsylvania State University: folk music primarily from Western Pennsylvania and northern West Virginia;

3) Ross Laird: $500 to assist with expenses in preparing a complete discography of recordings made in the U.S. for release on the Okeh label and its subsidiaries between 1918 and 1934, contracted to be published by Greenwood Press.

Thanks go to committee members Suzanne Flandreau, Bob Kenselaar, and Suzanne Stover for their work this year.
